- Broad device and display compatibility

True 4K at 60 Hz for smooth, detailed visuals
Enjoy true Ultra HD 4K resolution at 60 Hz for fluid motion and razor-sharp detail. With support for up to 18 Gbps bandwidth, this adapter is ideal for high-resolution gaming, immersive video playback, and professional video or photo editing workflows.

Active DP to HDMI conversion for universal compatibility
The built-in active chipset ensures reliable conversion from DisplayPort to HDMI, even on sources that do not support DP++. It works seamlessly with a wide range of GPUs and setups, including configurations like AMD Eyefinity, and it also supports DP++ outputs.

Plug and play setup with no drivers required
Just connect and go. The adapter requires no additional drivers or software, making it effortless to mirror or extend your display in seconds. It is the simple, dependable way to connect your laptop or PC to TVs, monitors, and projectors.

Ultra-durable build with reinforced cable and metal alloy housing
Engineered for longevity, the Ultra range uses a synthetic fibre reinforced core with a TPE jacket to resist wear and tear. The adapter head features a metal alloy housing for added durability, and the latching DisplayPort connector helps maintain a secure, stable connection.

Broad device and display compatibility
Connect any DisplayPort-enabled laptop or desktop to HDMI-equipped displays including TVs, monitors, and projectors. Compatible with DisplayPort 1.4 or earlier and HDMI 2.0 or earlier, it is a flexible solution for offices, classrooms, studios, and home setups.
