The Satechi USB-C Snap Hub expands your MacBook with six essential connections in one slim, integrated design. - Designed for MacBook Neo architecture
- Six essential ports in one compact hub
- 45W USB-C pass-through charging
- 4K HDMI and 5Gbps data transfer
- Flush, color-matched premium design

Designed for MacBook Neo architecture
The USB-C Snap Hub is purpose-built for the asymmetric dual-port layout of MacBook Neo. Power, data, and video are routed to work seamlessly with the device, so the experience feels invisible — plug in, and it just works. Data and video functions also work with other compatible dual USB-C MacBooks, with host charging capped at 45W.

Six essential ports in one compact hub
Connect the tools you use most without carrying multiple adapters. The hub gives you HDMI, USB-A, USB-C, SD, microSD, and USB-C pass-through charging in one slim accessory, with all six ports available for use at the same time.

45W USB-C pass-through charging
Keep your MacBook powered while you work. The USB-C pass-through charging port supports up to 45W host charging, so you can connect your charger and continue using the hub's other ports for displays, storage, accessories, and card readers.

4K HDMI and 5Gbps data transfer
Use the HDMI port to connect to an external display with support for up to 4K at 60Hz. The USB-A and USB-C data ports support transfer speeds up to 5Gbps, making it easy to connect peripherals, move files, or add storage to your setup.

Flush, color-matched premium design
The compact 100 x 29 x 10 mm form sits neatly against your MacBook with no dangling cable. An anodized aluminum top and soft-touch ABS base are color-matched to MacBook Neo finishes, creating a clean look that feels built in rather than added on.
