Memory foam protection for shock absorption

Constructed with 5 mm closed-cell memory foam, this Pipetto sleeve is engineered to cushion your MacBook from everyday impacts. The dense foam layer absorbs shocks from accidental bumps or drops, helping to protect the internal components of your device. Whether you are commuting, travelling or moving between meetings, your MacBook stays securely cradled inside a padded barrier.

Perfect fit for 16-inch MacBook and compatible 15-inch MacBook Pro models

Designed for a precise fit, this sleeve is tailored to the 16-inch MacBook (2019) and is fully compatible with the 15-inch MacBook Pro models from 2016, 2017, 2018 and 2019. The snug internal dimensions keep your MacBook firmly in place, minimising movement inside the sleeve and further reducing the risk of scratches or edge damage. It is ideal as a standalone carry sleeve or as added protection inside a backpack or briefcase.

Water resistant ripstop outer fabric and zip

The external ripstop fabric is hard-wearing, tear-resistant and treated to resist water, helping to protect your MacBook from light rain and everyday spills. A water resistant zip adds an extra barrier along the opening, keeping moisture away from your device. This durable outer shell is built to cope with daily use, commuting and travel without easily fraying or tearing.

Ultra-soft faux fur interior lining

Inside, your MacBook rests against an ultra-soft faux fur lining that shields the aluminium body and display from scratches, dust and dirt. The smooth, plush interior prevents abrasion when you slide your device in and out of the sleeve, helping it to look newer for longer. It is especially useful if you often carry other items in the same bag, adding a protective layer between your MacBook and anything that might mark or scuff it.

Ultra-lightweight and slim for easy carry

Despite its protective construction, the sleeve is ultra-light and slim, designed not to add unnecessary bulk. It slips easily into your bag or briefcase, making it ideal for commuters and frequent travellers who need protection without weight. The minimalist profile complements the MacBook's sleek design, so it looks as good in the office as it does on the go.
