Luxurious full-grain leather craftsmanship

Journal for MacBook Pro 15-inch is crafted from genuine full-grain leather sourced from New Zealand, giving your MacBook a rich, professional look and feel. The leather is treated with an eco-friendly vegetable tanning process and finished with a subtle waxed sheen that develops character over time. Hand-finished details showcase Twelve South's attention to quality, turning your everyday laptop case into a refined accessory that looks at home in any meeting room or workspace.

Slim, lightweight protection for MacBook Pro 15-inch (38.1 cm)

This case is designed specifically for Thunderbolt 3 (USB-C) MacBook Pro 15-inch (38.1 cm), wrapping your device in protection without weighing you down. Hardback covers shield the front and back of your MacBook, while a crush-resistant spine helps absorb everyday bumps and pressure when you slip it into a bag. Despite this robust protection, Journal remains impressively slim and weighs only about 383 grams, so it adds minimal bulk to your carry.

Versatile design: semi-attached cover or slip-in sleeve

Journal adapts to how you like to work. You can keep your MacBook inside and use it as a semi-attached cover, opening the case like a book and working directly from it. Or, you can slide your MacBook in and out as a traditional slip-in sleeve when you prefer a bare-laptop feel at your desk. This dual-function design makes it easy to move from commute to conference room while keeping your MacBook protected at every step.

Hidden interior pocket for documents and essentials

Inside Journal you'll find a cleverly integrated pocket for papers and flat items. Store documents, briefs, or material swatches so everything you need for your next meeting is in one place alongside your MacBook. This hidden compartment streamlines your daily carry, reducing the need for extra folders or sleeves and helping you stay organized and prepared.

Discreet portfolio-style design for added security

When closed, Journal looks like a sophisticated leather portfolio, not a laptop case. This understated appearance adds an extra layer of visual security, keeping your MacBook discreetly concealed in public spaces. Soft microfiber lining on the inside helps protect your computer from nicks and scratches, while reinforced corners and the cushioned spine provide impact absorption, so your MacBook stays safe as you move through your day.
