Ultra-thin and ultra-light design

The Baseus Wing Case is designed to be almost weightless and barely noticeable. Its ultra-thin profile follows the natural lines of your iPhone 11 Pro Max, preserving the original look and feel of the device. You get protection without adding bulk, making it ideal for users who dislike heavy or chunky cases but still want everyday safety for their phone.

Semi-transparent matte finish that showcases your iPhone

With its semi-transparent matte texture, the case subtly reveals the original design and color of your iPhone 11 Pro Max. The frosted finish gives your phone a stylish, understated look that feels modern and premium. It enhances the appearance of the device instead of hiding it behind a thick, shiny plastic shell.

Fingerprint-resistant, non-slip surface

The rough, matte surface of the Baseus Wing Case is designed to stay clean and comfortable in daily use. It resists fingerprints and smudges, so your phone continues to look neat throughout the day. The texture also improves grip, reducing the chance of accidental slips while still feeling smooth and pleasant in the hand.

Durable polypropylene that resists yellowing over time

Made from high-quality, flexible polypropylene, this case is built to last. The material is wear-resistant and does not turn yellow over time, keeping the case clear and attractive even after prolonged use. It withstands daily handling, pocket use, and frequent removal without stretching out of shape or losing its protective properties.

Comprehensive protection with reinforced corners and raised camera edge

Despite its slim build, the Baseus Wing Case offers solid, everyday protection. It shields your phone from scratches, minor bumps, abrasions, dust, and dirt. Reinforced corners help absorb impact in case of drops, while the specially elevated profile around the camera module helps protect the lenses from contact with flat surfaces, reducing the risk of scratches when you place your phone down.
