66% sapphire-reinforced hybrid glass for higher scratch resistance

The GT-017 integrates sapphire content throughout the glass structure to increase surface hardness and help resist scratches from everyday items like keys and coins. This hybrid approach is built to deliver stronger scratch resistance than standard tempered glass while keeping the practical impact protection that tempered glass is known for.

Ultra-slim 0.33 mm profile with clear, responsive touch feel

At 0.33 mm thick, the protector is designed to keep the iPhone 16 Plus feeling natural in the hand and in use. The slim build helps maintain comfortable swiping and tapping, while still adding a protective layer over the display.

92% light transmission for a clean, true-to-screen viewing experience

High light transmission helps preserve the original look of the display, supporting sharp visuals and natural color. It is made to protect your screen without adding a dull or cloudy appearance.

Oleophobic anti-fingerprint coating for a smoother, cleaner surface

An advanced oleophobic coating helps reduce fingerprints and smudges during daily use. This makes the screen easier to keep clean and maintains a smooth, glass-like feel over time.

Precision fit for iPhone 16 Plus with accurate alignment and full feature compatibility

Designed specifically for iPhone 16 Plus, the GT-017 is engineered for proper edge alignment and accurate cutouts. It is made to work with Face ID and the phone's key functions without interfering with normal operation.
