Full leather wallet and folio case for iPhone XR

Journal is crafted as a true all-leather wallet case, not just a plastic shell with a card flap. The exterior and interior are wrapped in genuine full-grain leather, carefully tanned for a rich look and feel. Open it up and you will find leather throughout, with precise stitching that matches high-end handbags and fine leather goods. Slip your iPhone XR inside and you get a sophisticated folio that looks as good in a meeting as it does on a night out.

Integrated protective shell for drops and bumps

Inside the Journal folio, a precision-fit composite shell holds your iPhone XR securely in place. This rigid inner frame helps absorb everyday knocks, bumps and minor drops while keeping ports, buttons and the camera accessible. The folio cover adds an extra layer over your display when closed, helping protect against scratches in bags, pockets and on desks.

Three-card wallet with ID window and cash pocket

Journal is designed to replace your everyday wallet. Inside the front cover you will find three card slots, including a clear ID window for quick access to your driving licence or work badge. Behind the card slots, a full-length pocket holds folded banknotes, receipts or tickets. With your essentials in one place, you can leave your traditional wallet at home and travel lighter without sacrificing organisation.

Built-in hands-free display stand for video and calls

Fold the Journal folio back and it transforms into a stable horizontal stand for your iPhone XR. Prop it on a table, tray or desk to watch videos, join video calls or scroll through photos without holding your phone. The viewing angle is tuned for comfortable, hands-free use, whether you are catching up on series at home, taking a call at the airport or keeping kids entertained at dinner.

Premium leather that ages beautifully and adds privacy

Made from full-grain leather, Journal develops a unique patina over time, softening and gaining character with every use, much like a fine pair of shoes or a favourite leather bag. The folio design also gives you an instant privacy shield: simply close or partially close the cover to hide your screen from side glances on flights, trains or in cafes. You can even use the open folio to block glare from the sun when taking photos.
