SurfacePad for iPhone 11 from Twelve South is an ultra-slim, full-grain leather wallet case that protects the front and back of your iPhone while adding hands-free viewing and everyday card storage. It is the elegant way to streamline what you carry, keep your iPhone 11 protected from daily hazards, and still enjoy wireless charging and all the benefits of Apple Wallet and Apple Pay.

- Ultra-slim full-grain leather cover for front and back protection
- Built-in viewing stand for hands-free use
- Automatic wake and sleep functionality for compatible iPhone models
- Two integrated card slots to slim down your everyday carry
- Qi wireless charging compatible without removing the case

Ultra-slim full-grain leather cover for front and back protection

SurfacePad for iPhone 11 is crafted from character-rich, full-grain leather that feels as good as it looks and develops a beautiful patina over time. This featherlight cover wraps the front and back of your iPhone, protecting it from everyday hazards like countertops, tables, and keys in your bag. Unlike thick plastic cases, SurfacePad is designed as a refined leather jacket for your phone, complementing your style instead of hiding your iPhone 11. It keeps the glass protected while still showcasing the design and color of your device.

Built-in viewing stand for hands-free use

The large, vivid display on iPhone 11 is made for watching content, taking video calls, and more—so a stand quickly becomes essential. SurfacePad includes a cleverly integrated display stand: simply flex the back, and your iPhone props up in landscape mode for comfortable, hands-free viewing. It is perfect for watching movies, catching up on your favorite shows, hanging out on FaceTime, taking hands-free selfies, or viewing game highlights at a bar or coffee shop. When you are done, the stand folds flat again, keeping the case slim in your pocket or bag.

Automatic wake and sleep functionality for compatible iPhone models

SurfacePad is designed to work seamlessly with your iPhone, not just protect it. For compatible iPhone models, the front cover triggers automatic wake and sleep functionality: open the case to wake your iPhone, and close it to put the screen to sleep. This subtle but powerful feature helps preserve battery life and makes every interaction with your phone faster and more intuitive. You get the elegance of a book-style cover with the smart convenience of a built-in screen on/off control.

Two integrated card slots to slim down your everyday carry

The inside of SurfacePad's front cover includes two discreet card slots that instantly reduce what you need to carry. Use them for your ID, transit pass, or a bank card for nights out when you would rather leave your wallet or purse at home. Combined with Apple Wallet and Apple Pay, these two physical card slots are the perfect complement: keep key physical cards in the case, while tickets, boarding passes, and most payment cards live digitally on your iPhone. The result is a lighter, more streamlined everyday carry without sacrificing what you need.

Qi wireless charging compatible without removing the case

Despite its luxurious leather construction and built-in wallet, SurfacePad remains slim enough to work with Qi wireless charging. There is no need to remove the case when you drop your iPhone 11 on a compatible wireless charger at home, at work, or in your favorite café. This compatibility keeps your charging routine simple and seamless, while SurfacePad stays on your phone to protect it and keep your essential cards close at hand. Style, protection, wallet functionality, and wireless charging all work together in one thoughtfully designed case.
