Durable tempered glass protection
Built from double-strengthened tempered glass, this screen protector helps defend your iPhone 16 Plus against scratches, abrasions, and everyday impacts. It is made to provide dependable protection while keeping a slim profile on your device. The glass has also passed steel ball drop tests up to 1.8 metres, giving added confidence in daily use.

Anti-fingerprint coating for a cleaner screen
An advanced oleophobic coating helps reduce fingerprints, smudges, and natural skin oils on the surface of the glass. This keeps the screen looking cleaner throughout the day and makes it easier to maintain a clear view of your display with less frequent wiping.

Clear display with precise touch response
The UAG Glass Shield is designed to preserve the original look and feel of your iPhone screen. It offers high-definition clarity for sharp, clear viewing and maintains accurate touch sensitivity, so tapping, typing, and swiping feel responsive and natural.

Reinforced edges for longer-lasting durability
The edges are reinforced to help reduce the risk of chipping and cracking over time. This added strength is designed to improve the long-term durability of the protector and help prevent damage from spreading if the edges are exposed to impact.

Easy installation with included applicator kit
Installation is quick and straightforward with the included applicator and cleaning kit. Everything needed for a precise fit is included in the box, helping you apply the protector cleanly and evenly. The design is also case-friendly and made to fit well with UAG cases.
