- Ages beautifully to develop a unique patina over time

Fully leather-wrapped profile for premium protection and grip

We've completely enveloped this case with our acclaimed full-grain leather, co-developed to create durable finishes that become more beautiful with wear. The super-slim profile and clean silhouette follow the contours of your iPhone 11 Pro Max perfectly, creating a well-balanced design that feels inherently right while offering protection from everyday knocks and bumps. The leather adds a warmer, more comfortable grip that plastic cases simply can't match.

Satin-like microfiber interior lining for additional device care

The interior of your case is lined with the finest Japanese microfiber, a slim yet super-strong fabric that's exceptionally lightweight. With its sophisticated, satin-like finish, this material provides luxurious padded comfort for your iPhone 11 Pro Max, cradling it safely while adding minimal bulk. This premium lining ensures your device remains scratch-free while nestled in its protective leather exterior.

Meticulously designed leather-covered buttons for responsive use

We've paid special attention to the details that make daily use a pleasure. The buttons are fully covered in leather, contributing to the sleek aesthetic while maintaining perfect responsiveness. Our optimized button profile is specifically designed and tested through a meticulously refined production process to ensure effortless use with satisfying feedback. The camera opening and mute button are tapered inwards for smooth, intuitive operation and a seamless look.

Raised 1mm bezel to protect your screen from scratches

Protection doesn't have to compromise design. The leather extends 1mm above the edge of the glass, creating a subtle raised bezel that keeps abrasive surfaces away from your screen. This thoughtful detail provides essential protection for one of the most vulnerable parts of your device without disturbing the clean, minimalist aesthetic that defines our approach to design.

Ages beautifully to develop a unique patina over time

In line with our vision, this case is contemporary yet remarkably simple. It doesn't demand attention, but rather showcases craftsmanship through its understated appearance. Our signature vegetable-tanned leather has a soft feel initially and acquires a beautiful patina with use. The color becomes richer and develops character as you use it – every stain and every scratch makes it uniquely yours. This case looks terrific when new and even better over time as it tells the story of your daily life.
