Fully leather-wrapped, slim profile

The Mujjo Leather Case for iPhone 11 Pro Max is entirely wrapped in premium full-grain leather, creating a super-slim silhouette that closely follows the contours of your device. Instead of adding bulk, it enhances your phone with a warm, grippy feel that makes it more secure to hold. The clean, minimal design is carefully balanced to look and feel natural on your iPhone, offering everyday protection without compromising the sleek profile you expect from a premium device.

Premium microfiber lining for soft interior protection

Inside, the case is lined with a high-end Japanese microfiber fabric that is slim, strong, and exceptionally lightweight. This satin-like material adds a subtle layer of padded comfort, helping to protect the glass and aluminum surfaces from scratches and minor impacts. The smooth interior ensures your iPhone 11 Pro Max slides in effortlessly while being cushioned every time you put it down or pick it up.

Refined button and camera detailing for comfort and responsiveness

Every functional detail on this case is carefully considered. The volume and power buttons are fully covered in leather, which enhances the clean look while preserving crisp, tactile feedback. The button profiles have been specifically optimized and tested to remain highly responsive in everyday use. Around the camera and mute switch, the openings are gently tapered inward to allow easy access and a smooth, cohesive aesthetic that feels as refined as it looks.

Raised leather bezel to protect the screen

The edge of the leather rises approximately 1 mm above the glass, forming a subtle raised bezel that helps keep abrasive surfaces away from your screen when you place your phone face down. This carefully measured lip adds an extra layer of protection without making the device feel bulky or disrupting the clean lines of the design.

Full-grain vegetable-tanned leather that develops a rich patina

Crafted from Mujjo's signature full-grain, vegetable-tanned leather, the case looks impressive the moment you put it on and only improves over time. The surface gradually develops a unique patina as it is exposed to daily use, with every mark, scratch, and touch adding character. The color deepens, the finish becomes richer, and the case becomes distinctly yours, reflecting the way you use and carry your iPhone.
