Feather-light composite construction

The Metropolis SE case is designed with a feather-light composite construction that ensures your iPad remains lightweight and easy to handle while providing superior protection. The unique blend of materials offers robust resilience against daily wear and tear without adding unnecessary bulk.

Impact-resistant soft core

Engineered for optimal defense, this case features an impact-resistant soft core that safeguards your iPad against accidental drops and shocks. The soft core technology absorbs and disperses impact energy, ensuring your device stays intact even under challenging conditions.

Tactile grip for secure handling

Never worry about accidental slips with the Metropolis SE's tactile grip. The textured exterior provides a secure and comfortable hold, reducing the likelihood of drops and ensuring peace of mind when carrying your iPad with you.
