Step into the future of charging technology with the Satechi 200W USB-C 6-Port GaN Charger. This sleek, dynamic charger ramps up your tech experience to the next level. It's driven by the ground-breaking GaN technology that provides accelerated, reliable, and safe charge for up to six devices at once.

- Empowered by Efficient GaN Technology
- Features 6 USB-C PD ports
- Total power output of 200 watts
- Equipped with CE & ETL certifications with over-current protection
- Modern, sleek design complementing any workspace

GaN Technology: The Powerhouse of Efficiency

At the core of the Satechi GaN charger lies the state-of-the-art Gallium Nitride (GaN) technology. This next generation technology is about three times as efficient as the conventional silicon-based chargers in power conversion, resulting in faster charging and better overall power efficiency for all your devices.

Six USB-C PD Ports: Your One-stop Charging Solution

The Satechi charger comes equipped with six USB-C PD ports that automatically detect each device plugged in, adjusting wattage according to port hierarchy, and supporting a combined total power output of 200 watts. For single device charging, it offers up to 140W power via PD1 or PD2, while for multiple devices it redistributes power optimally among the ports.

200-Watt Power Output: Unleash Performance

With a total combined power output of 200 watts, the Satechi charger supercharges all your power-hungry devices with ease. Be it your Macbook or your iPhone, charging was never this fast, efficient, and smooth.

CE & ETL Certifications: Safety Uncompromised

The Satechi charger boasts CE & ETL certifications, providing an additional layer of safety. The added over-current protection ensures an efficient and safe charge, freeing you from any worries while your devices revive.

Modern Design: Versatile Aesthetics

The Satechi 200W charger not only charges your devices but also elevates your workspace aesthetics. Its contemporary space gray design fits seamlessly into any workspace. Further, the detachable power cord makes it easy to store, ensuring your desk stays clutter-free.
