- Multi-layer construction with shock-absorbing core and polycarbonate shear plate
- Secure handling with tactile grip, protective screen surround, and oversized buttons

7.6 m drop protection with 5X MIL-STD 810G 516.6 testing

Designed and independently tested to handle serious drops up to 7.6 meters. The construction helps disperse impact forces to protect your Samsung S26 Edge during real-world accidents, and meets 5X military drop-test standards under MIL-STD 810G 516.6.

DuPont Kevlar inlay for lightweight strength and abrasion resistance

The built-in DuPont Kevlar material inlay adds reinforcement without unnecessary bulk. It improves durability against scuffs and wear, helping the case keep its structure and finish through daily use.

Built-in magnetic module compatible with MagSafe, most wireless chargers and magnetic accessories

An integrated magnetic module supports MagSafe-style alignment and works with most wireless chargers and magnetic accessories. It is also designed to support Samsung Pay, so you can use compatible payment features without compromising everyday convenience.

Multi-layer construction with shock-absorbing core and polycarbonate shear plate

Monarch Pro uses multiple protective layers that work together. The shock-resistant core helps absorb impacts, while the polycarbonate shear plate adds rigidity and protects against scratches, dents, and daily knocks. An impact-resistant rubber surround adds extra cushioning at the edges where drops tend to hit hardest.

Secure handling with tactile grip, protective screen surround, and oversized buttons

A contoured perimeter and tactile grip improve control, especially when you are on the move. The protective screen surround helps reduce contact between the display and flat surfaces, and the oversized tactile buttons are designed for a consistent, responsive press. Integrated lanyard anchor points are included for added carry security (lanyard not included).
